IMPROVEMENTS AT THE GLOBE. Immense New Department to Be

Opened To-Day. As regularly as the four seasons in the year come and go there is one firm in this city which seems to have a time-honored custom of increasing its business facilities. For the last quarter of a century there has

For the last quarter of a century there has scarcely been a season that a change for the improvement and enlargement of the business has not taken place. It is only a few months since that this store was beautified and modernized, and not content with that, a large, up-to-date dry goods department has been acided.

The store spoken of is the well-known firm of the Globe, Seventh and Franklin avenue, which started out as an exclusive elothing store, and which to-day claims to sell more clothing than any store in town. From time to time this store has added new departments, and nothing has been left undone to make each addition as complete as any of the other departments.

"Onward and upward," as its motto implies, this firm, in order to make these changes, was compelled to utilize its entire third floor, ore haif block, from No. 781 to No. 712 Franklin avenue, to make room for its latest departure. The ladies furnishing goods and milliberty department, which occupied the immense corner of Seventh and Franklin avenue, together with the cloak department, which occupied similar space on the second floor, was moved to the third floor.

The first floor now is transformed with a grand line of fancy and staple dry goods.

ca the second floor, was moved to the third foor.

The first floor now is transformed with a grand line of fancy and staple dry goods, portleres, lace curtains, draperies, window shades, blankets, quiits and other furnishings of the sort. The space on the second floor recently occupied by cloaks is now given over to the ciothing, making it one of the largest clothing stores in the West.

The west half of the third floor is occupied with thirly large bargain counters, on which will always be found values that have brought the Globe into such prominence. To-day this new department will be thrown open for business with the other departments.

The Globe extends a cordial invitation to everybody, large or small, to join in the celebration. Thousands of handsome souvenirs will be given free, and on Monday, Eeptember II, a grand opening will be held in the millinery and cloak departments. All that is brightest and newest will be displayed.

WOMAN HERMIT CHOKED TO DEATH BY ROBBERS.

Body of Aged Elizabeth Smith Found in Her Cottage at Glencoe.

She Was Gagged by the Thieves and Thrown in a Corner Under a Pile of Bed Clothes-House Wrecked in Search of Treasure-Officers After Clews.

Her body was found early yesterday morning by Mrs. Lippert, the wife of a neighboring storekeeper, and a young negro, who had been sent by his employer to purchase some chickens from Mrs. Smith. Death had been caused by strangulation The marks on the body showed that the response to his oft-repeated knocks. murderer had choked his victim, had then | bound and gagged her and covered her face with tell clothing.

There seems no doubt that robbery was the motive of the murderer. The mattress of the bed on which the body was found was cut open and the ticking and straw strewn over the floor; every closet in the house showed evidences of having been way to the back of the house. She had ransacked; all the drawers were open and their contents scattered about the floors, The carpet had been ripped up, and even that had been in place was turn away. She sections of the walls and floors had been made further investigation, and then, as-

Coroner Armstrong held an inquest yesterday afternoon, and the jury rendered a verdict of "felonious homicide; motive, vobbery." Doctor Armstrong said last night places the planks of the floor were torn that so far there was no definite clew to the identity of the murderer. Mrs. Smith was, in the opinion of many of her neighbors, a hermit. Her cottage was a plain little frame building, situated on a five-acre plot of ground, which she cultivated as a truck farm, and on which she raised chickens and other poultry. From the sale of these she made her living. The income was not great, but the old weman was frugal, and for years it has been common report that she had saved several hundred dollars and hoarded it away in ob-

Now and then, in the busy seasons, Mrs. Smith employed help, but it was for work in the daytime only, and for only a few days at a time. She did most of the work connected with her truck farm and the care of her poultry herself, and did all of her own housework. At all times she in answer to the criek, stayed alone at night.

People often predicted that at some time or other Mrs. Smith would be visited by robbers, and now and then those who talked to her would caution her. But she was not in the face, evidently by a heavy fist, Finafraid. different housewives for their Sunday dinners, and also disposed of a considerable amount of vegetables. She was seen early Saturday evening by neighbors.

No one noticed anything unusual about the Smith cottage Saturday night or in the early hours of Sunday morning. Late passers on the road saw no lights and heard no sounds. But yesterday morning a neighbor sent a young negro servant to Mrs. Smith's cottage to purchase some chickens. The boy noticed, as he approached the place, that Mrs. Smith was not about, and itn the same mad search. He ransacked that the fowls in the poultry yard were waiting for their food. But he thought nothing of it, unless it was that the old

And over in one corner there was an un canny pile, covered with bedelothing, torn and rumpled. Mrs. Lippert went to the corner and lifted

The negro behind her was pitifully frightened. Presently Mrs. Lippert regained her composure, and both she and the negro ran to the door. There they cried out the glarm, and soon men from the neighborhood came

And the murderer departed, leaving no trace so far as has been discovered. County officer swere soon at the scene and a search was made for clews to the murderer. Haughton was arrested, but he was soon able to prove that he had no connection with the case, and was released. Coroner Armstrong was called, and prepared for the inquest. He impaneled a jury and made a thorough examination of the body and the premises. He was totally unable to fix the crime upon any one, and his jury brought in a verdict of "felonious homicide; motive, robbery."

Doctor Armstrong said last night that so far as known Mrs. Smith had only two relatives, a son and a daughter in Idaho. What their names and addresses were he did not know. He said there was no evi-dence that the murderer obtained any booty and that no money was found about the house in the search that followed the dis-covery of the body.

FOUND IN HOSPITAL RUINS.

Police Had Refused Both Lodging—Woman Said She Was Driven From Home.

Mrs. Frances Long, who says she was compelled to leave her home with her S-months'-old baby Saturday afternoon be-cause her husband abused her, had a harrowing experience before she found shelter for herself and child at the City Hospital early yesterday morning. After tramping around the town for hours in search of a place where she might rest her weary head and find shelter from the night winds for her smoother old child Helen she say for her 8-months'-old child Helen, she sat for her 8-months old child releas, and sac down on a door step at Twelfth and Chon-teau avenue to rest. While there she fell asleep, holding her baby to her breast. George Arnold, who was seeking shelter for himself, saw the woman with her child. and pity for an unfortunate like himself caused him to stop, wake the woman and ask her why she was sleeping there. When Mrs. Long told him her story, he volunteered to help her. He said his name was

Mrs. Long told him her story, he voluntered to help her. He said his name was George Arnold, that he had been in the city only a few days and being out of work and without money was himself compelled to sleep where he could find a place.

Arnold suggested to Mrs. Long that she go to the nearest police station and ask for shelter for the night. He accompanied her shelter for the night. He accompanied her shelter for the night. He accompanied her Sergeant to give her a night's lodging. If she was successful, Arnold was to go in and make the same request.

Mrs. Long said that she went into the station, told the Sergeant the circumstances that made it necessary for her to appeal to him for shelter and that he told her to go to a police station in the neighborhood of her home.

When Mrs. Long returned to the street she found Arnold outside and told him the result of her appeal to the Sergeant, Arnold station, told the sergeant the circumstances that made it necessary for her to appeal to him for shelter and that he told her to go to a police station in the neighborhood of her home.

When Mrs. Long returned to the street from Chicago. She met Long, who was a widower with seven childen. They are for the night and her quickly departed.

To-day Mrs. Long will leave the hospital to find work to support herself and child. She said yesterday that she will throw herself into the river before she will return to her busband. Local Forecast Official. WILSON TWEEDY MAY DIE. Stabbed by Crowd Who Attacked

While Wilson Tweedy, 20 years old, was scated on the porch of his home in Worden, Ili., late Saturday night, conversing with a friend, he was seized by a party of half a dozen men, who had stiently approached. They dragged him out into the yard, and while some one held him others plunged a knife blade into him again and again, and then quickly departed.

Marshal English arrested John and Ferdinand Machail, brothers, on suspicion of having led the assailants. They are in jail at Worden.
